Statement of Program Service Accomplishments

Protecting the Source: Highlights from South America

Ikiama Nukuri

In 2023, Ikiama Nukuri celebrated 15 years of impactful work. This year marked significant achievements, including the attendance of over 150 births and distribution of 850 safe childbirth kits by Community Health Promoters. The program also held the first Male Leadership Workshop addressing the root causes of family violence, empowering Achuar men to break harmful patterns and become exemplary leaders. In 2023 Ikiama Nukuri also began the process of forming the Ikiama Nukuri Productive Association whose objective is to generate economic alternatives for the empowerment of the program's Community Health Promoters.

Ecotourism in the Amazon

Ecotourism as a driver of economic benefits has expanded significantly in the last couple of years in Achuar territory in Ecuador. Fundación Pachamama has been actively coordinating these efforts that now welcome and host outside visitors in 5 different Achuar communities in the lower Pastaza province. The hub of the surge in ecotourism activity is the Kapawi Ecolodge which was established in 1996, and with the support of Fundación Pachamama and Pachamama Alliance over the past several years, has been renovated and expanded its tourism offerings. This past year, Kapawi Ecolodge earned the prestigious international Adventure Innovation Challenge award, highlighting its excellence in the realm of adventure tourism.

Forest Economies

Fundación Pachamama's Forest Economies Program supports bio-entrepreneurship and regeneration projects in the South-Central Amazon region of Ecuador. These innovative projects generate income for communities who might otherwise look for income from the oil, mining, and logging industries trying to infiltrate the region. The program searches for solutions based on sustainable use of forest resources that are also financially viable for community development.

In 2023, they supported the expansion of organic chakra (family food gardens in rainforest communities) certifications of more than 100 producers in the province of Pastaza to connect the production of traditional crops, such as cassava and plantain, with national and international markets. They also began documenting a series on Amazonian gastronomy with renowned chefs of the country. This is a key strategy to publicize the diversity of products of the Amazon as sustainable value chains with great potential for strengthening the country's bioeconomy, food sovereignty of peoples and communities, the rescue of the ancestral knowledge of Indigenous peoples of the region, the recognition of ancestral agroforestry systems, and the conservation of natural resources essential for life.

Forest Protection and Climate Finance

This past year saw a significant increase in Fundación Pachamama's development of model projects to finance tropical forest protection:

As a pilot/demonstration project for the Amazon Sacred Headwaters Alliance, Fundación Pachamama completed the reforestation of over 1,500 acres, planting over 100,000 trees and plants of over 100 different Amazonian species. This project was spread over 40 communities involving 8 different Indigenous nationalities. The financial partners were the Alliance for a Circular Bioeconomy and ReforestAction. Plans are now to spread this project through other appropriate sectors of the Sacred Headwaters region.

Fundación Pachamama and Pachamama Alliance, together in partnership with a foundation in Norway, introduced an innovative "forest stewardship" project in the Achuar community of Sharamentsa. This project covers nearly 25,000 acres of primary rainforest. The community has been trained and equipped to carry out regular monitoring of the forest conditions in the territory using GPS equipment, drones, camera traps, smart phones, and satellite data to generate records and prepare reports. Sharamentsa receives a continuing quarterly payment to a community fund as long as the forest conditions and its biodiversity remain intact. This project has been three years in development. It is proving effective enough that in the coming year it will be expanded to two more Achuar communities.

Fundación Pachamama is developing protocols and financing sources for this kind of project where the funders will receive recognition and credits for preserving biodiversity. This is a switch from a sole focus on measuring and giving credits for carbon retained in the forest. As the financing sources develop, this model of forest stewardship could be applied to millions of acres in the Sacred Headwaters region.

Human Rights and Rights of Nature

As the petroleum age is slowly closing, mining is emerging in the Sacred Headwaters region, and particularly in Ecuador, as a threat to human rights of local people and to the rights of nature itself. In response, Fundación Pachamama's legal team has expanded its focus to include mining issues.

In November 2023, the team, along with several major Indigenous organizations, won a case at the Constitutional Court of Ecuador that voided a decree issued by Ecuador's previous government that would have vastly expanded mining activity, trampling on Indigenous peoples' rights to prior, free, and informed consultation.

Fundación Pachamama's legal team has also taken on the case of the "Condor Mirador" mine in Ecuador's southern Amazon. The Mirador mine is set to become one of the largest open pit mines in the world. A recent scientific study showed that as the project expands, its tailing dams are at imminent risk of failure which could cause a catastrophic environmental disaster in Ecuador and downstream for hundreds of miles. The legal team recently filed a petition with the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights asking that precautionary measures be imposed on the Ecuadorian government and the operators of the "Condor Mirador" mine. This could shut the mine down or require significant re-engineering of the project.

Inspiring the Future: Highlights from Around the World

Awakening the Dreamer

In 2023, Pachamama Alliance's flagship program remained a significant source of inspiration and motivation for participants around the world. 91% of reporting participants indicated the course increased their motivation to act on behalf of environmental sustainability and 85% reported an increase in their motivation to act on behalf of social justice.

Form 990 p 2: Line 4a Description-1 (Continued) - - - - -Game Changer Intensive

The Game Changer Intensive-a powerful 8-week online course where people come together to explore their role in making a difference in the world-continued to inspire and galvanize participants in 2023. The Intensive, having engaged over 8,700 participants from 150 countries, introduces individuals to collective community action and prepares them for Pachamama Alliance's 10-week Introduction to Community Climate Action Training.

Climate Action Now

In November 2023, we successfully launched the Climate Action Now online course, engaging over 200 participants and graduating more than 100 individuals. These graduates are now equipped with a deeper understanding of Climate Justice, ready to take meaningful action to address the climate crisis and find their unique roles in this vital effort.

Resilience and Possibility

The Resilience and Possibility in These Times series continued to offer a deep container for the Pachamama Alliance community to strengthen our capacity to meet these times with depth and community. In 2023, we curated 8 gatherings with 2,729 people from around the world to explore themes of climate justice, Indigenous sovereignty, guidance and lessons from the rainforest, cultivating spirit within social movements, and the importance of taking local action, rooted in relationship with place. Participants describe their experience as "Inspiring, motivating and moving", "an eye opening affirmation of the interconnectivity of all existence", and "a journey of connectedness that branches earth wisdom of the past with upward growing possibilities for the planet's future."

Introduction to Community Climate Action Training

We successfully completed 2 iterations of the Introduction to Community Climate Action Training-a 10-week training focusing on developing key skills for local community action and climate justice, grounded in a profound appreciation for the interconnectedness of all life. 126 people from 25 different countries around the world took part in the program, which was offered in both English and Japanese. 97 people completed the training and joined the Game Changer Action Training network. 90% of final survey respondents developed an Action Plan for climate justice solutions in their communities.

The Game Changer Action Network

Graduates of the Introduction to Community Climate Action Training joined the Game Changer Action Training Network, our international community of climate activists, where they connect and support each other in their climate actions. In 2023, members of the Network launched 127 climate action projects in 8 countries. The action areas include ecosystem protection, political and policy action, building regenerative systems, and renewable energy projects. These projects have directly mobilized 4,000 people into action and impacted 49,000 people.

Examples of projects include:

- Mobilizing 22 community organizations to plant over 300,000 trees in Kenya
- Organizing an interfaith coalition with 74 congregations in North Carolina to direct climate justice funds to low income communities, educate youth about climate change, and mobilize their community in elections
- Collaborating with the city engineer and city council in Moab, Utah to include tree planting ordinances for all new development and funding for urban forests in low income neighborhoods
- Creating a national network of professional accountants bringing holistic and regenerative accounting practices in the personal finance industry

- Agro-forestry and community food security in Malawi

- Launching a national version of Citizens Climate lobby in Japan and bringing members to COP 28

Climate Convergence 2023

On October 5th, 2023 Pachamama Alliance hosted the first Climate Convergence, which was a resounding success, attracting over 2,000 participants from across the world for a virtual summit featuring 20 speakers and facilitators. Renowned figures like Robin Wall Kimmerer, Christiana Figueres, Bill McKibben and more provided immersive workshops and powerful discussions to highlight the diverse solutions and dimensions of the climate justice movement including rematriation, economic justice, Indigenous sovereignty, and regenerative farming as well as the role that art, music, and healing play in bringing forth bold action and climate solutions. The summit's theme "We can, We must, We will," resonated with attendees who expressed being "transformed", "overflowing with gratitude", and "alive with possibility and commitment."
